THE NEW SOCIALISM.

W. L. SHELDON DISCUSSES "LOOKING BACKWARD" AT MEMORIAL HALL.

A Large Audience Listens to an Able Discourse on the Theories of Edward Bellamy—Suggestions Contained in the Nationalist's Bible That Are Worthy of Careful Consideration by Political Economists.

MEMORIAL HALL was filled yesterday morning by an intelligent audience which had gathered to hear Mr. W. L. Sheldon lecture on "Looking Backward." Mr. Bellamy, he said, had, without intending it, written a great work in political economy. Very often men had undertaken to do one thing, and it so happened that the outcome may have been of equal value but in an entirely different direction from what had been anticipated. There had been a multitude of writers who had wanted to climb to the top or be in the front rank in the field of economics and political science. Here was a man who never, perhaps, dreamed of any such purpose and had no such aspiration, and yet with a single bound he had leaped to the front and achieved a result which so many with direct purposes had vainly sought to accomplish.

A great many of the vast number of volumes which had appeared on the social question within the last hundred years had been mere waste efforts; mistaken assumptions on the part of the writers that it only required ordinary capacity, together with common sense, to take the helm and guide the ship of human affairs. Fortunately we would rather leave the ship in the care of the same old pilot than run the risk of making experiments, when such experiments had often proved so completely a failure. Whatever the individuals might think who occupied the chairs for this science in our schools of learning, this was not a question of which any society ever was or ever will be there, but rather, perhaps, a suggestion of what would be a good idea, but not necessarily a possibility. No man is ever going to build up a human society on that model any more than a father would expect to develop a child into a man. In the present day, as far as I am concerned, like most other writers, I am not going to write any article on the conditions of human life.

"Looking Backward" is a work of art, the Apollo of the world, and it is in marble. It is not a question of whether any society ever was or ever will be there, but rather, perhaps, a suggestion of what would be a good idea, but not necessarily a possibility. No man is ever going to build up a human society on that model any more than a father would expect to develop a child into a man. In the present day, as far as I am concerned, like most other writers, I am not going to write any article on the conditions of human life.

This book has not been merely a dream, an ideal, a scheme for any community or persons. They had thought that it might soon be realized. Already in different sections of our country there are efforts to form a political party to realize the principles of the book. It is the Nationalist party and is publishing a monthly called the "Nationalist." Here are the headings of some of the articles: "The Curse of Capital," "The Civilization of Capital," "The New Point of View," "A Co-operative Commonwealth," "The Future of Nationalism," "Let Living Worth Be Sung," "Not Gold Alone."

Railroad Bills.

A hearing on the Central & Western and the Lindell Avenue Railway bills will be held this afternoon by the Central Committee on Railroads. It is reported that Mr. Merritt, the attorney for the organization, called the Twenty-eighth Ward Association, will talk back only to contrast with a vision of beauty, with a perfect ideal of unselfishness, a realization of our universal human brotherhood. He will, however, be compelled to do more than to set men to thinking on the social question. He did not wish to be understood as saying it was a perfect ideal. The hearings on these bills will last throughout the week.

BUT THE WRINKLES.

The defects as well. The real man who would live and think in the year 2000, when he came to read the book, would, after all, wonder at the significance, as indicating currents of thought or desire already existing but which have not found expression. We recognize in this pop-

STATE SUPREME COURT.

THE KANSAS CITY COAL OIL INSPECTORSHIP MATTER NOT YET DECIDED.

In Bearing Upon the Governor's Action in the Case of the St. Louis Recorder of Voters—Decisions Rendered To-Day—Pardons Granted—State Capital Notes.

By Telegraph to the Poor-Dispenser.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec. 2.—There was considerable dissatisfaction this morning because the Supreme Court did not dispose of the case involving the title to the office of Coal Oil Inspector of Kansas City. The point at issue in this case involves the power of the Governor to remove an official from office without cause. If this case is decided favorably to the Governor he can at once remove Recorder of Voters Williams from office, and it is hardly necessary to add that he will do so. The Kansas City case was advanced on the docket and will be reached during the month. Other important cases were ahead of it and consequently it could not be reached. The opinion is general, however, that Mr. Williams will be removed from office even if the Kansas City case goes against Gov. Francis, as the claim is made that in amending the law relating to the Recorder of Voters of St. Louis the figures from which the date of the four years' term was to commence were struck out, and pursuing this same line of argument it is held that the office has been vacant from the 1st of last November, the date upon which the new law went into effect. But if the Governor wins the Kansas City case it will certainly clear the way of all obstacles and render Mr. Williams' early removal a settled fact.

The Governor disposed of the following business this morning:

Fine of $8 remitted in the case of Dr. A. J. Donlin, convicted in Schuyler County of selling adulterated meat to the public. The original fine was $200 on five counts, and defendant must pay one fine and costs in all the cases.

Mr. Gash of Linn County, fine of $40 imposed for assault; will be remitted when costs are paid.

Harrison Asher of Phelps County was fined $100 for selling concealed weapons, owing to mitigating circumstances the fine will be remitted upon payment of costs.

Geo. E. McCloskey was indicted in Shelby County of killing his dog and fined $200 and sentenced to jail for six months. The fine is remitted and a pardon granted on the ground that the prisoner is very sick and not expected to live long.

A pardon was issued to Ed Hall, convicted in St. Charles County on Sept. 1, 1888, of first degree murder. It had been pending for two years. The pardon was recommended by the Prosecuting Attorney and prominent citizens.

SUPERIOR COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Supreme Court convened at 9:30 o'clock this morning. Chief Justice Ray presiding. The court announced that the January call of the session would be suspended.

The following opinions were rendered:

BY JUDGE RAY.

L. P. Moore, appellant, vs. Charles Martin, respondent, St. Louis Court of Appeals; affirmed.

D. B. Boogher, appellant, vs. W. H. Hough et al., respondents, St. Louis; reversed and remanded.

BY JUDGE SHERWOOD.

State, respondent, vs. Charles Meyers, appellant; Jackson County Criminal Court; reversed and remanded.

BY JUDGE BLACK.

James Duffy et al. vs. Addison Willis; Carrollton, Mo.; affirmed.

John Thompson, et al., appellants, vs. James D. Ish et al., respondents; Ray County; affirmed.

John Kinder, respondent, vs. James H.

The Blair educational bill and the proposed bill for the Federal control of elections are good measures for the Fifty-first Congress to kill.

The members of the Hendricks Association are standing by each other, but they have knives in their hands and are looking for good places to stick them.

WHAT PHIL ARMOUR didn't know or didn't care to state, when examined by the Senate Committee investigating the dressed meat combine, embraced most of the details of the beef-packing business.

An attempt will be made in the present Congress to amend the civil service law. The only amendment of that law which will be acceptable to the people is an increase of its efficiency and an extension of its scope.

If some of the gentlemen who are trying to "hog" all the possible credit of getting the World's Fair for St. Louis do not pay more attention to booming St. Louis and less attention to booming themselves, they may "hog" all the discredit of losing the prize.

With a Republican President and a Republican Congress there can be no shifting of responsibility for governmental blunders within the next two years. The Republican party alone will have to answer to the people for the records of all branches of the government.

THE report comes from Washington that the St. Louis World's Fair campaign there is being badly mismanaged. But then, the personal glory campaigns of several of the St. Louis World's Fair managers is a flourishing condition.

JUDGE ANDERSON of Salt Lake has decided that no man can bind himself by oath to obey a power which he considers superior to the State and become a citizen of the State. This is sound law and patriotism. It disfranchises all Mormons who have taken the Endowment-house oaths.

The claim of the policemen for increased pay should not be prejudiced by the failure of those in command to enforce the law against the newspaper men and ticket vendors engaged in the lottery swindle. The patrolmen are not to blame for the official connivance and favor accorded to these malefactors.

THURSDAY'S POST-DISPATCH contained the first account of the great fire. Boston and yesterday's SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH contained the best and fullest account of the terrible holocaust in Minneapolis. The daily and SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH are invariably first or best in the publication of the news.

CONGRESSMAN FRANK has not been called to the White House to recommend a postmaster to St. Louis. Nor has he been called before any St. Louis court to show cause why he should not pay numerous heavy fines as President of a newspaper company engaged in violating the law by publishing lottery advertisements.

One of the measures which the Fifty-first Congress is expected to consider is a national law against lotteries. The law of one St. Louis Congressman is already decided on this question. Congressman

FRANK can never be induced to vote for the abolition of the lottery swindles which pay his newspaper high advertising rates for violating the law of Missouri.

ONE month remains before the contract for lighting the city by electricity goes into effect. According to the report of the Board of Public Improvements, however, the plant of the Municipal Electric Lighting Co. will require much more time than this for completion at the present rate of progress. The board should push the company strenuously, and if it is not prepared to fulfill its contract hold it for damages to the fullest extent. The city must not be left in darkness for a single night.

THIS Belgian authorities have visited swift punishment upon the proprietor of the cartridge factory at Brussels, through whose carelessness a disastrous conflagration occurred. What will the Minnesota authorities do to the owners of the Minneapolis Tribune Building, who were permitted to provide for the safety of their tenants and refused to do so. Through this deliberate neglect many lives were lost. Shall it be said that life and property are more valuable and are better protected in Belgium than in the United States?

THE world-wide interest which is being taken in the attempt of NELLIE BLY, the bright and hustling representative of the New York WORLD, to beat JULES VERNY's imagination in a trip around the world will be greatly intensified from now until the completion of her journey. Miss Bly expects to make the trip within seventy-five days, and the WORLD makes the liberal offer of a free trip to Europe to the person guessing nearest to the exact time it will take to complete the journey. Blank guess coupons were printed in yesterday's SUNDAY WORLD and will be printed in every SUNDAY WORLD until Miss Bly returns. These blanks are to be filled with guesses by those entering the contest. It will be a lucky person who hits the right figures.

KANSAS CITY has raised $100,000 toward starting a line of Missouri River steamers to hold freight rates down for her. She tried this bluff some ten years ago and found that it paid, although the steamer line never materialized or carried a single cargo. Doubtless a time will come when a freight barge line carrying coal, ore, grain and building materials cheaper than railroads can will find plenty of profitable employment on the Missouri River from April to November. But as a competitor of the railroads in the general carrying trade, and as a permanent regulator of rates between St. Louis and Western points, that river is entirely out of the question until invention shall have produced snug-proof hulls of lighter draft than any now in use.

Truth About the World's Fair.

(Washington, Dec. 1, Special to the Globe-Democrat.)

It is presumed that the truth is wanted about the World's Fair campaign. If so, the declaration must be made that a much more vigorous support to the claims of St. Louis is for immediately. There is simply no comparison between the work being done here for Chicago, and the effort in behalf of St. Louis. With the speakership contest settled, and nothing to do until the committees are appointed, Congressmen are ready to listen to World's Fair talk. Chicago has rushed in her best workers, and they are making things lively. Her headquarters are stocked with Chicago and St. Louis papers. Clerks are busy all day long. The workers come and go; their movements are directed by the postmaster; the list of members is frequently consulted; the Chicago people know just what they have got, and are now bending all their energies to reach doubtful votes. They are unquestionably making inroads upon territory which naturally belongs to, and is claimed by St. Louis. They are reaching for Southern Democrats with the pleasing argument that the World's Fair will make Illinois surely Democratic in 1890. They are reaching out East and West, North and South.

Chicago has the advantage over St. Louis in numbers as well as organization. She has a squad of representative men in each of the principal hotels. She has ten at work where St. Louis has one. St. Louis has got headquarters, and that is all. She is paying $800 a month for three parlors at the Willard. The gentlemen put in charge of the headquarters have not been given authority to buy so much as a box of cigars. They have no papers, no documents, no map, no clerks. Cards in the windows about the size of the usual "for rent" placards announce that the St. Louis headquarters are within.

Nothing can be said in criticism of the individual efforts of Gen. Clark, Gov. Fletcher, ex-Congressmen O'Neill and Clardy, Col. Fletcher and Gen. Farrar. They are talking St. Louis as bravely as numerously as they can, but they are growing discouraged. There is no organization; nobody lays out and directs the work. There is no money for necessary expenses. The usual hospitalities are all omitted. It begins to look as if there was very bad management of the St. Louis campaign.

Frank has not been called to the White House to recommend a postmaster to St. Louis. Nor has he been called before any St. Louis court to show cause why he should not pay numerous heavy fines as President of a newspaper company engaged in violating the law by publishing lottery advertisements.

One of the measures which the Fifty-first Congress is expected to consider is a national law against lotteries. The law of one St. Louis Congressman is already decided on this question. Congressman quarters with friends at a private residence to await action in the Postmasterhood. Mr. Fishback, while waiting, is taking in the Capitol Congressmen Wade, who is now as a top wave, said to-day that Col. Tracy would be made Marshal of the Western District, in his place. Mr. Alderman of Maryland, the principal opposition, is demanding as the fact that he was a presidential elector and in the influence of John L. Bittner and others. Mr. Bittner, a former prominent lawyer here, refuted certain representations made by Mr. Alderman. This appointment will likely be made within a few days.

Those branches of Congress subject to removal in the House reorganization are Clark H. Clark, Chief Clerk Thomas Fowler, Disbursing Clerk Dr. Sidney Cunningham, Superintendent of Police James Fluke and House Messenger Charley Goombes.

A HERO'S DEATH.

How Engineers George Burnham Saved the Lives of His Passengers.

By Telegraph to the Post-DISPATCH.
Boston, Dec. 2.—The death of Engineer George Burnham of the Stonington Line boat train in the collision in Providence last evening was the last heroic act of one of the most heroic of locomotive drivers. Burnham has in previous years repeatedly distinguished himself by saving his passengers in moments of peril, and on two or three occasions greatful train loads of people have made him valuable to the public. He made a dash in a characteristic attempt to avert a great disaster. His train was bowing along at a rapid gait through the northern suburbs of Providence, when the rods were all broken for Burnham, but suddenly a switch engine shot out of the track ahead of him, emerging from a dark mass of freight trains at a rapid gait, and the two engines met head-on. His engine the next moment. Seeing that a collision was unavoidable he determined to save his train and passengers, all of whom he ran his engine into the rear, and got down to pull the coupling pin, his intention being to then dash ahead in full speed and recover the lost time by running his powerful locomotive. Before starting back over the tender he had shoved his lever forward and though he lost his footing and became decoupled by the impact, he was able to hold on to the tender, and when his train had so far accomplished its purpose that no one in the cars of the steamboat train was even scratched.

MILLS & AVERILL,

S. E. COR. BROADWAY AND FIFTH.

SHE USED A WHIP.

A Philadelphia Business Man Beaten by His Wife.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 2.—John Hartnett of the well-known firm of R. W. Hartnett & Bros., machinists, of 52 North Sixth street, was severely whupped by his wife yesterday afternoon in the street in front of the firm's warehouse. The affair caused much excitement in the neighborhood, where Mr. Hartnett is well known and popular. Mr. Hartnett, when visited at his home, 1728 Wylie street, said he had been beaten by his wife "My wife's jealousy made her do this thing. She is a jealous disposition, and became enraged when I did not return home late at night. I told her I could not come home until Saturday night, but for some reason she did not reach me until Sunday morning. So, of course, she did not know where I was. She became very angry at what she supposed to be my infidelity, and came down into the basement, where she stood over my shoulders before any of us could stop her. We tried to keep it quiet, because her temper has disgraced the whole family."

Mr. Hartnett is a French Canadian of middle age and is a French Canadian by birth. Her only relative in this country is an aunt who lives in Boston. She had just returned from a visit to the sun and had been away a few days only when she made the attack upon her husband. Mr. Hartnett made his statement to-night in the presence of his wife and his daughter.

Could Not Stand Prosperity.

By Telegraph to the Post-DISPATCH.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Dec. 2.—John Chapman, the old soldier who a few days ago received notice that his pension claim had been denied and who had been waiting patiently for his check for $1,500, was found dead in his station-house cell early this morning. Chapman had been on a sprees ever since he received the news that his pension had been denied, and thought formerly despaired and abandoned. Friends flocked around him. Many were advancing him small sums of money. Chapman had no friends among the police, from drink and was taken to the station in a wheelbarrow and put in a cell. When the police returned to the cell the man was dead. The coroner's inquest fixed the cause of death as from alcoholism. Chapman was about 50 years old, and, owing to his infirmities, had long been known as "Whisky Jack." He had a sister who will probably inherit his money.

He Executed by Electricity.

By Telegraph to the Post-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Charles Molvaine, the condemned murderer of the Brooklyn grocer, Innes, has only about two weeks longer to live, unless his lawyer obtains a respite pending an appeal for a new trial. If no respite is granted he will be executed by means of electricity on Dec. 15. The date of his execution is to take place will be completed by Saturday next. The electric chair in which Molvaine will meet death was erected in the center of the room. The dynamo, number, have a combined capacity of 2,000 watts. The wires used will be strung from the roof down walls of the building and connected with the chair.

THE NATION'S AFFAIRS.

SECRETARY NOBLE DISCUSSES THE BUSINESS OF THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

Needed Action as to Oklahoma Town Sites—Cattle Leasers in the Cherokee Strip to Be Taught a Lesson—An Early Sioux Proclamation—Service Pensions Recommended.

WASHINGON, D. C., Dec. 2.—Secretary of the Interior Noble opens his annual report with an extended reference to the opening up of Oklahoma. He says: Generally speaking, the best of order prevailed and the loss of life was remarkably small. But the observance of law was not universal. It is to be deplored that while this great body of our people were obeying the laws, and patiently submitting to a military patrol force they could have overpowered, there had crept into the Territory a number of individuals who, before the hour appointed, selected town sites and homestead claims, and, by this illegal opportunity, to the great disadvantage of others, attempted at the appointed hour of noon to establish these sites and claims in defiance both of the proclamation and the statute under which it was framed. But inasmuch as these questions may yet come before the Secretary of the Interior for decision, the matter will not be here further discussed than to say there should, in my judgment, be no legislation ratifying any acts these law-breakers have done in disregard of justice and fair treatment and to the injury of the law-abiding citizens.

THE TITLES TO TOWN SITES

have also furnished cause for trouble. The Secretary quotes the law and says:

Inasmuch as the two sections just mentioned designate certain town or other officials who alone can apply to make town site entries, and as no Territorial or State government having authority to provide for such officials exists in the Territory, it will be held by the Commissioners of the General Land Office that no such entries can be made there until further legislation by Congress.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office, however, directed the Register and Receiver of each of the land offices to report the same and await further instructions on the same.

CONDITION OF THE TERRITORY.

The Secretary then gives these facts as to Oklahoma: Population, 60,000, of which 20,000 are in twenty-eight towns, the largest as follows:

Guthrie (including East and West Guthrie and Kingfisher and Linton) 10,000. Oklahoma City (including South Oklahoma) 5,000.

The Territory contains twenty-nine schools and thirty-eight churches, and over 5,000 newspapers. The number of schools and churches does not include a few schools outside of town limits, due to the fact that these are not being readily obtainable. At the largest of these towns there has been organized a number of grammar schools and a court in the nature of an arbitration board. It is to be hoped that the Indians and the citizens of the citizens. From what has been said it can be perceived that there has been no law other than that of self-protection upon which the Indians have relied for their safety. Nevertheless, there are Mayors, City Councils, Tax Collectors and City Marshals and a court in the nature of an arbitration board. It is to be hoped that the Indians and the citizens of the citizens.
